

ABOUT THE SOCIETY...

Cambridgeshire Records Society publishes a wide range of documents and maps relating to the county (including the Isle of Ely and Huntingdonshire). Records are chosen for their value to research and are edited voluntarily to the highest standards by specialists in the relevant field. Each publication includes a substantial scholarly introduction placing the item in context.

Our publications include diaries and letters, field surveys, farming accounts, a tax list, parish church, school and nonconformist records, and maps. The documents are drawn from a wide range of national and local archives and cover all periods from the Middle Ages to the twentieth century. All publications are on sale at the Cambridgeshire Collection, Cambridge Central Library, and some map publications at Cambridgeshire Archives, Shire Hall. Publications can also be ordered through bookshops, direct by post (postage extra) and over the internet. For details of the volumes and purchasing options see www.cambsrecordsociety.co.uk.

The Society is a not-for-profit organisation and depends wholly on its membership. An annual meeting, at which reports and accounts are presented and the officers and committee are elected, is held in conjunction with a lecture, exhibition or visit to a local place of historic interest.

The Society aims to publish a volume a year, and members receive a free copy of every volume published during their membership. In addition, they are entitled to buy previous publications, most of which are still in print, at the members' rate of about two-thirds the non-member price.

Special offer for new members who pay by bankers order.

New members who arrange to pay their subscription by banker's order are offered a discount of £10 from one or more back publications which they may wish to purchase in the first 12 months of their membership. Please send the order form, with your membership application, to the Secretary.

General Data Protection Regulation.

The society's officers hold members' contact details in order to inform them of meetings and other activities and to distribute publications. We do not share them with anyone else. Please get in touch if you have any concerns.
